EXPLOSION IN TUNNEL; 3 MEN BADLY BURNED

Three workmen in the East Boston tunnel were seriously and perhaps fatally injured in an explosion of gasolene in the Atlantic avenue entrance to the tunnel early today. The injured men are: JOHN A. WARREN, twenty-three years old, of No. 4 Tilton place. JOSEPH DICKET, twenty-nine years old, of No. 100 Essex place. JOSEPH CURRIER, twenty-two years old, of No. 412 C street. The men are employees of the E. W. Dwyer Construction Company. At 7 o'clock this morning they entered the tunnel at Atlantic avenue, one of them carrying a lighted lantern to light the way. A barrel of gasolene at the foot of the tunnel entrance had been leaking. As the three men neared the leaking barrel there was a terrific explosion. All three were hurled some distance, landing in heaps of scrap iron and debris. They were unconscious when other workmen, attracted by the explosion, rushed to their aid and removed them to the outer air. They were sent to the Relief Hospital in the ambulance from station 1. All three were placed on the dangerous list. A slight fire resulting from the explosion was quickly extinguished.

ASSASSIN'S RING SENDS PLOT TO CZAR

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—The Lokal Anzeiger reports that the Czar of Russia recently found on his desk in his dining room at Peterhof a memorandum regarding the motive for the assassination of M. Fylov, and announcing that other members would be consulted until Russia was liberated from despotism. The Czar, says the paper, immediately sent for Count Murawiev, the Minister of Justice, and gave him the document ordering an inquiry. The commander of the palace, General Iren, will be suspended for permitting the memorandum to reach the Czar's desk.

EX-SENATOR VEST DEAD

SWEET SPRING, Mo., Aug. 8.—George Graham Vest, ex-United States Senator of Missouri, died at 7 a. m. today, of great debility, age seventy-four.

George Graham Vest, Democrat, of Sweet Springs, Mo., was born at Frankfort, Ky., December 6, 1830; graduated at Centre College, Kentucky, in 1848, and in the law department of Transylvania University at Lexington, in 1851; began practice in Missouri the same year, served a single term in the State Legislature and was elected to the United States Senate in 1871; he was re-elected in 1887 and 1893; he died today, having been ill for some time.

Mr. Vest never lost his temper. He was in the State of Kentucky when the war broke out and he went with the South and became a Confederate Senator.

BAD CROP REPORTS ARE COMING FROM MANITOBA

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 8.—Bad crop reports are received from Manitoba this morning. Frost in some sections has caused damage. The harvest will be two weeks late. Rain prevented the wheat from filling out well. There is much fear of a late fall.

It is believed now, even without further damage to growing wheat, Canada will not have over 15,000,000 bushels for export.

NOTE BY NEW WIRE

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 8.—General Brewster, chief signal officer of the United States Army, has received the first telegraphic message ever sent direct from Nome, Alaska. It marks the inauguration of the (over-land) wireless line from Nome, Alaska, to St. Michael. From St. Michael the message came to the wire line to the Yukon in Dawson, and thence to the Atlantic, traveling 3,200 miles in all.

RUSSIANS IN CHANNEL HOLD BRITISH SHIP

STEAMER FORCED TO FLY ENSIGN BEFORE LEAVING CZAR'S VOLUNTEER.

It is announced in London that the United States and Great Britain are in perfect accord with respect of the rights of neutral commerce. Foreign Secretary Lansdowne has directed the British Ambassador at St. Petersburg to protest against the Russian definition of contraband along the lines of the declaration transmitted through Ambassador McCormick by Secretary Hay.

A revival of the Anglo-Russian war sentiment has followed the report that Russian war vessels, lying in wait for English steamships, on the lookout for contraband, have approached to the very entrance to the English Channel, and that the coast of France is patrolled. One English steamship was signalled by a cruiser flying the Russian war flag and compelled to hoist her ensign.

Supported by Great Britain, the Porte insists upon a written communication from Russia regarding the passage of the Dardanelles, and a strict observance of the Treaty of Paris. Turkey declares that vessels passing through the straits shall not carry arms or munitions of war. This practically closes the straits to the volunteer fleet.

The situation in the Far East approaches a crisis. It is reported that Lieutenant-General Stoessel, in command at Port Arthur, has committed suicide, and that the soldiers and citizens are in a panic. The stronghold is filled with sick and wounded.

General Kuropatkin is hard pressed by the three Japanese armies in Manchuria. Field Marshal Oyama is reported to have gone toward Liao-Yang to personally direct the general engagement.

BRITON HELD UP IN ENGLISH CHANNEL

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Russia's predatory volunteer cruisers are posted at the very entrance of the English channel, on the lookout for English ships carrying contraband, according to a dispatch from Lloyd's Plymouth agent.

The receipt of this news in London has caused intense excitement. Following Premier Balfour's declaration yesterday that England was dissatisfied with Russia's action in the Knight Commander case, it has brought about a distinct reaction.

Gigantic Jewel Robbery Amazes Newport and Baffles Detectives of Great Cities—Mrs. Ogden Goelt Victim of Most Daring Thief and Other Residents Are in Fear.

9 WOMEN OWN $5,000,000 IN JEWELS

The estimated value of the jewels owned by nine of the wealthiest women in Newport are:

Mrs. Oliver Belmont	$400,000
Mrs. Perry Belmont	600,000
Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish	700,000
Mrs. Herman Oelrichs	500,000
Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt	700,000
Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt	500,000
Mrs. Edward J. Berwind	600,000
Mrs. Joseph E. Widener	600,000
Mrs. Ogden Mills	700,000
Total	$5,300,000

NEWPORT, Aug. 9.—As a result of the fright the sensational and mysterious robbery of the jewels of Mrs. Ogden Goelt has caused among the cottagers here, at scores of the villas of the wealthy Summer residents armed guards will be on watch to-night.

Never before has an event of this character so stirred up the members of the society set. Each seems to think that he or she may be the next victim. The extraordinary secrecy that has been maintained about the gigantic theft has but served to increase the alarm of those who own valuable jewels.

MAY HAVE BEEN A WOMAN.

The wildest conjectures as to the identity of the robber have been indulged in. No one thinks that it was the result of a professional. It has even been hinted at that it might have been a woman who stood on an equal footing with the other cottagers except in the matter of money.

The "social highwayman" is an ally looking out, the value of the gems taken increases. First, it was stated, and this emanated from the detective who have been working on the case, that they were worth at $200,000. Today a third woman high in the social set who said that the gems were worth much more than that, that she would not be in the least surprised if their worth approximated $500,000.

It is known here that Mrs. Ogden Goelt possessed the most valuable collection of jewelry of any member of the colony. It is estimated that her jewels were worth $500,000.

May Have Been Worth $500,000.

The facts of the robbery are still being gathered.

ESTHER kissed her sister lovingly. Then, forcing back the words of comfort that tried to come, she said:

"Be of good cheer, little sister, I have promised you a happier time and it is coming—coming."

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

Esther and Miss Vassell, sister and brother, young beautiful, healthy, free, and untroubled, were both with them when their father, who had been a successful business man, died, leaving them a large fortune. Esther, who was the elder, was a very beautiful girl, and her father had been a very successful business man. She was a very beautiful girl, and her father had been a very successful business man. She was a very beautiful girl, and her father had been a very successful business man.

"Yes, a mere ceremony—no more. It is necessary for certain reasons that I may not explain that a gentleman—myself, I may say a gentleman—should be married to night."

"To-night? Esther's momentary glance at her sister's face showed her that she was not alone in her surprise. She looked at her sister's face, and she saw that she was not alone in her surprise. She looked at her sister's face, and she saw that she was not alone in her surprise.

THEY SAY KEEP ON THINKING AND WORKING FOR BROTHERHOOD AGAINST MONOPOLY

With all the blessings of cheap postage and well-managed postal business, however, it is to be regretted that the Government itself is so inefficiently managed that it is unable to give us the parcel post service which England enjoys.

The trail of the serpent is over us all here in democratic America, and monopoly rules unopposed over law, order and decency. Yet just as surely as the stars move in their courses so surely the present things shall pass away and a new order of government replace the old.

With the failure of the great Ship Trust, and the exposure of the Standard Oil methods by Ida Tarbell, and the Annapolis case, the people are beginning to see the need of a new order of government.

Men dare to think. United thought contains more power than words. Keep on thinking that monopoly must give way to brotherhood. Your thought is helping the day to draw near.

MEANWHILE THE POSTOFFICE HAS LOWERED ITS RATES A THIRD. THE GOVERNMENT CAN AFFORD TO CONSIDER ITS PATRONS, BUT IT SEEMS A CORRUPTION RACKET.
